Research Experience

Research Assistant: Computer Use Agent Evaluation

Advisor: Prof. Tao Yu

University of Hong Kong

Feb 2026 – Present

- Designed and constructed 10 long-horizon OSWorld 2.0 tasks, including realistic artifacts, multi-application workflows, environment states, and checkpoint-based evaluators.
- Analyzed agent trajectories to study model behavior and recurring failure modes in complex, open-ended computer-use workflows.

Research Assistant: Secure and Reliable Code Generation

Advisor: Prof. Kexin Pei

University of Chicago

Jul 2025 – Present

- Led end-to-end diffusion language model training for PACO, including masked-diffusion fine-tuning and multitask learning with AST-depth and security-risk supervision.
- Developed SemRep’s two-stage data synthesis and model-training pipeline, and implemented GRPO-based reinforcement learning for code transformation.
- Engineered and managed agentic evaluation pipelines across code optimization (KernelBench, GSO) and general code editing (EditBench).

Research Project: Step-Parallel Optimization (PASO)

Advisor: Prof. Jianhai Chen

Zhejiang University Incas-lab

Feb 2025 – May 2025

- Derived triangular-nonlinear-equation reformulations and convergence arguments for Adam and AdamW; implemented core acceleration experiments on GPT-2 and CNNs.

Honors & Awards

China National Scholarship (top 3%)

2025.10

Zhejiang Provincial Government Scholarship (top 10%)

2024.09

Zhejiang Province College Student Mathematics Competition First Prize

2024.06

Zhejiang Province College Student Physics Competition Second Prize
